Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourses and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or, if when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

the arrival of that relief ship at Fort De France yesterday. He added that he would leave half of the relief stores at Martinique, where there already was sufficient food, and carry the remainder to St. Vincent.

TERSE TELEGRAMS

A Hopeful Construction.

London, May 22.—Bennett Burleigh, the correspondent at Pretoria of the Daily Telegraph, has cabled his friends here that he is about to return home. The Telegraph interprets this action on the part of his correspondent as a circuitous intimation that peace has been arranged in South Africa, and that, owing to the censorship, Mr. Burleigh was unable to communicate this fact to his paper.

Murderous Hoboes.

Tiffin, O. May 22.—John Smith, aged 40, whose home is in Philadelphia, was murdered by robbers on a Baltimore & Ohio boxcar near the village of Bascom and the body thrown from the car. The murderer was committed by three hoboes, who also assaulted Ed Emigh and left him for dead. Two suspects are under arrest here.

AFTER taking 900 ballots the Eleventh congressional district republican convention adjourned at 2:15 this morning until 11 o'clock today. The vote remained about the same throughout the 900 ballots. The anti-Steele men stuck close to their men. The result of the convention is awaited with much interest throughout the state.

THE REPUBLICAN has frequently urged people to do their trading at home. We believe in that principal. The home merchant is the one who can serve the needs of the people of his community best. He deserves the patronage of his home people. Merchants in town should do as they would like the people of the community to do by them. They should patronize home industries. They should never even send printing out of town when they can be served well at home. And if they want to buy calendars to give to their patrons they should not fail to consult the home printers who can supply their demands as well as anybody.

Columbus Crowd.

The Seymour people are showing much interest in the Columbus carnival. The forenoon trains today took 185 people from here to Columbus. 492 tickets were sold during the week including the 3:35 train this afternoon.

After considerable effort a special train was secured for tonight to bring the crowd home, leaving Columbus at 11 o'clock. This is the day of the carnival parade in which Miss Millicent Miles, of city, will appear as one of the maids of honor.

A College Man and a Quotation.

Some one once said, "A Harvard man knows all literature but the Bible," a startlingly sweeping generality, but not without truth so far as the Bible is concerned. A case in point came to light the other day. Two Harvard men were reading together some famous modern orations, one of them a eulogy. The eulogy closed with the words: "O death, where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory?"

"What a beautiful close!" exclaimed one of the students enthusiastically. "The man who wrote such a sentence as that proves that the grand style in prose did not die with the eighteenth century."

It should be added in fairness that the other student was a churchman and said nothing.—New York Tribune.

"It's the Cut."

An aged country rector who had an old tailor as his clerk, returning from his church one Sunday with the latter, thus addressed him:

"Thomas, I cannot think how it is that our church should be getting thinner and thinner, for I am sure I preach as well as ever I did and ought to have far more experience than I had when I first came among you."

"Indeed," replied Thomas. "I'll tell you what; old persons nowadays are just like old tailors, for I'm sure I saw as well as ever I did in my life, and the cloth is the same, but it's the cut, sir, ah! it's the new cut!"—Pearson's.

On the Trail of the Trusts.

The beef trust men are profuse in their protestations of innocence, but the case which the government is working up against them will show whether or not they are telling the truth. It is known that the administration is pushing this matter with courage and ardor. If there is a beef trust—and an overwhelming majority of the people believe there is one—it will be assailed by all the resources which the law puts in the government's hands. There is a chance, of course, that the law may be found ineffective in this case, but if this be so a new act will be passed which will do the work which is required. The Republicans are in the trust-killing business, and the country will soon see that they are in to win.—Shelbyville Republican.

J. Benj. Robertson Writes of His Journey Eastward to the Philippines.

MANILA, PHILIPPINE I., April 20, '02.
TO THE SEYMOUR REPUBLICAN:

We are now entering Manila Bay. It is late at night. But as a mail steamer leaves for the States early in the morning we write tonight expecting this to reach you by earliest mail. Our last letter was mailed you at Port Said at which point in our journey we now begin.

We arrived at Port Said, Egypt, 10:30 p. m., Wednesday, March 19, and contrary to our expectations were allowed to go ashore for a few hours. This city is situated at the north-east extremity of Africa. It guards the entrance to the Suez Canal and is controlled by the English. The inhabitants are mostly Turks who are extremely jealous of the English authority. Port Said is said to be the wickedest city in the world and truly it is not misrepresented. This was the eve of the Mohammedan "Christmas." The shops were open all night. Christmas entertainments and ardent prayers were observed but more prominent was the fakir, the gin shops, profanity and filth of all kind.

Next day we were moving slowly down the canal. It is some ninety miles long, twenty-six feet deep and so narrow that when vessels meet, one of them must tie up, or switch. A railroad runs alongside the canal. At intervals of every five or six miles are erected signal stations. About these are generally a few trees and a small garden watered by fresh water piped from the Nile. Otherwise the canal is bordered only by miles of dreary desert and great tracts of salt waste.

At sunrise Friday, March 21, we passed the city of Suez and found ourselves in the Gulf of Suez. This is the arm of the Red Sea in which the waters are said to have divided for the passage of the Israelites and then swallowed up the hosts Pharaoh. The Gulf is here narrow. It has low sandy shores. But as we proceed the Gulf widens and the shores become more and more rugged till they reach a climax in the great mountains of Horeb and Sinai of Bible history. These regions are great desolate wastes of sand and sand stone.

As we pass through the Red Sea the weather continued to get hotter. We now stow away our heavy clothing. Here we enter the tropics. At 6 p. m. March 25 we passed the straits of Babel Mandeb. Thus we bid farewell to Africa and the Red sea and enter the Gulf of Aden. The narrow straits of Babel Mandeb are separated by the small island Perim. It guards well this entrance to the Red Sea. It is well fortified by the British.

Mr. Patterson—Mr. President—

Mr. Beveridge—Just wait a moment.

I want to get through with that officer sitting at night under the shade of a tree. [Laughter.]

Mr. Patterson—Ah!

Mr. Beveridge—Mr. President, I started out with the expectation of occupying the attention of the senate for three or four minutes in a kindly way to call attention to what I said was an unintentional error of my friend the senator from Utah [Mr. Rawlins]. Immediately a diversion was required; and the senator from Colorado proposed another subject of discussion. That was taken up, and then my friend the senator from Tennessee took up another subject of discussion, and that was the American soldier. He exonerated him, and then he attacked the American officer. I then asked the senator to name the American officer, to file his specifications, and he said it was not a subordinate officer, but it was Chaffee and Bell; and yet we had Chaffee yesterday exonerated by the senator from Utah. Then comes again the senator from Colorado to the rescue and says, "Yes, there is more than one instance; there is a horrible and dramatic circumstance of water cure given all night long until broad daylight, and during the whole of it an American officer sat within a few yards under the shade of a tree." [Laughter.]

"SEEING THINGS AT NIGHT"

Senator Patterson Tells of an Officer Who Sat in the "Shade" After Sundown.

Senator Patterson of Colorado is a former resident of Indiana, having like former Senator Wilson of Washington, gone west from Crawfordsville to grow up with that section and become an active factor in its political life. As editor of the Rocky Mountain News Mr. Patterson proclaimed in a type display that occupied most of the front page of his paper, the doctrine: "Where Dewey has hoisted the flag there shall it float forever," or words to that effect.

The nimble Colorado statesman doubtless thought the administration would withdraw American authority from the Philippines, thereby creating a first-class Democratic issue. But Editor Patterson guessed wrong. Now Senator Patterson is the leader of the opposition to the policy of maintaining American supremacy in the Philippines. That he, in common with his associates of the minority in the senate, has been hard-pressed in the effort to maintain himself in his new position, is indicated by a somewhat amusing colloquy which took place between him and Senator Beveridge the other day, as shown by the Congressional Record. Senator Patterson had been discussing American "atrocities" in the Philippines and said:

"The senator from Indiana wants to know whether there was any instance but the one in which there was an order from an American officer to administer the water cure. My sole aim, I will say to the senator, is to be correct. I want to say to the senate, Mr. President, that in every instance in which the water cure was administered—sometimes to as many as 20 Filipinos, then again to 12, and sometimes to lesser numbers—in every instance an officer was in the immediate vicinity."

Mr. Beveridge—That is as near as you can get an officer—"in the immediate vicinity."

Mr. Patterson—In the immediate vicinity, when the water cure was applied all night, commencing early in the evening and running until broad daylight in the morning, the officer in command of the troops was sitting under the shade of a tree, within less than 100 yards from where the process was being conducted.

Mr. Beveridge—Great Heavens, Mr. President, sitting in the shade of a tree at night. [Laughter.] We have it at last, I am glad to say. In the courts, both federal and state, if a lawyer who is confused presents some half a dozen theories upon which he desires to proceed, no one knows better than the senator from Colorado that the court requires him to elect the theory upon which he proposes to try his case.

Mr. Patterson—Mr. President—

Mr. Beveridge—Just wait a moment. I want to get through with that officer sitting at night under the shade of a tree. [Laughter.]

Kodo! Digests what you Eat

Dyspepsia Cure

You need all kinds of food to maintain the body. Curtail this variety and some organ is underfed. It is for this reason that a diet is injurious. If you cannot digest good food your stomach is out of order and needs rest. You cannot go without food for that would mean starvation. Kodo! Dyspepsia Cure will digest what you eat without the stomach's aid. Take it and you can rest your stomach without interrupting digestion. It is nature's own remedy. Never fails. Anderson Biggs, Sunny Lane, Tex., says: "I was troubled with indigestion ten years and tried many things and spent much money until I tried Kodo! Dyspepsia Cure. I am now feeling better than in five years and more like a boy than in twenty."

Cures All Stomach Troubles.

Prepared by E. DeWitt & Co., Chicago. The $1. bottle contains 2½ times the 50c. size. Sores, burns, wounds, skin diseases, quickly cured by DEWITT'S WITCH HAZEL SALVE.

Profit Sharing!

The Cincinnati Enquirer

$97,000

To be distributed to such of its readers who care to engage in an intellectual and profitable study. A contest that will familiarize them with the population, voting power and government of the State of Ohio.

The Problem is,

What will be the Total Vote in Ohio for Secretary of State at the general State election, to be held on Tuesday, November 4, 1902.

$12,000 will be presented to one making the nearest correct estimate.

$12,000 additional if an exact correct estimate is made, making a total of $24,000 for a correct estimate.

An additional sum of $10,000 will be given by the Daily Enquirer for an exact correct estimate if received on or before July 31, 1902, provided such estimate is made by a monthly subscriber to the Daily Enquirer at the time of making such estimate.

There are 4,187 cash prizes in all, several of which equal a life-time competence.

$1.00 for a year's subscription to the Weekly Enquirer entitles subscriber to one estimate.

50 cents, without any subscription privilege, entitles subscribers to additional estimates, at rate of 50¢ for each estimate.

Do not make any estimate until you thoroughly understand this Profit-Sharing Plan of the Cincinnati Enquirer. All estimates must be made on blanks prepared for the purpose, and in conformity with rules and regulations made and provided.
